Dear Sirs,

The year 1940 marked two particularly significant events.

It marked the mid-century point in the rise of science. It gave mankind science will show us the way to the future from the hands of imaginative men from 1800 to 1940.

The radio and television, the automobile and airplane, the atomic bomb and atomic energy, are but a few of the important inventions and discoveries of the age.

It also marked your entry into the world of science. Perhaps that does not strike you as an earth-shaking event but let us see what it represents.

It represents America's stake in the future. Man, man and woman of vision have nurtured America to a position of leadership and power. Now we must hand over leadership to the youth. It is up to you to stand the test of your people like yourselves who will be called upon to make decisions in the near future.

Our people's backward glance will be to the people of the future. But we will not in America reside in the past through you we will live in the future.

We realize that the future, we want you to know that your friends at Berlin Public School are interested in you, believe in you and stand ready to help you at any time.

Sincerely,

CLASS HISTORY

FRESHMEN

Our voyage started September eight 1950 when we entered B.H.S. for the first time. This was an unforgettable chapter in our lives. We really became a part of high school life when we were initiated by the seniors. Our first social was given in May, in the form of a party for the Seniors. Many new friends were made this year.

SOPHOMORES

The second year our first money making dance, "The Noah's Ark", was given. For the second time we were victorious in winning the magazine drive. As a result of this, the students began to take a more active part in school activities. This was also the year that we saw our favorite teacher Mr. Matthews leave to continue his studies at the University of Connecticut. At this point we had finished half our voyage.

JUNIORS

When we entered school for our third year we were confronted with a new regime—a new principal plus a new study system. Our class set a new record by winning the magazine drive for the third consecutive year. Our class rings arrived, our second square dance "The Harvest Moon Hop" was given and we also gave our first formal dance, "The Bermuda Cruise." This year was smoother sailing.

SENIORS

Memories of the past four years came to our minds as we marched to the stage for our diplomas. It seemed like only yesterday that we were freshmen. Thoughts of the banquet, class day, senior ball, and all the rest of our activities flashed through our minds. This was hard work but in return we were paid for this in the entertainment and enjoyment we had on these unforgettable occasions. The strenuous studying it took to have these diplomas handed to us will never be forgotten either! The year was rounded off with two social dances—senior play and freshman initiation. The most unforgettable character was Mr. Davis, (better known as Curly), the adult manager of the magazine drive. These drives netted our class a tidy sum of money to help cover some of its expenses. The seas were rough and treacherous but we finally completed our voyage.

CLASS WILL

To Mr. MacKenzie we leave a balcony for the auditorium.
To Mr. Long we leave another open-house date for rainy weather.
To Miss Thompson we leave a warm note of "thanks" for being such a wonderful class advisor.
To Miss Clements we leave a girls' workshop complete with saws, hammers and nails.
To Miss Tatt we wished to leave in perfect grammar.
To Mrs. Chapin we leave enough books to fill the Library.
To Mr. Kevorkian we leave a new saw. (The Home Ec. girls did a good job on the last one.)
To Mr. Charland we leave a band.
To Mr. Fabian we leave a formula for odorless experiments.
To Miss Quill we leave a book "One easy lesson to Shorthand".
To Miss McBrien we leave a Spanish class.
To Mrs. Porter we leave a summer stock group.
To Miss LeVan we leave a million beautiful plants for her office.
To Mr. Hubert we leave a convertible Cadillac for future Drivers' Education classes.
To Mr. Gibney we leave a new football stadium.
To Mr. Goodrow we leave a larger room so all his maps will be in order.
To Mr. Harris we leave a music room large enough to hold the chorus.
To Miss Rakowski we leave new blackboards that can be erased.
To Mr. Bates we leave a baton so that he may join the baton class.
To Mr. Rittner we leave a skeleton for his biology classes.
To Miss Beckingham we leave a swimming pool for gym classes.
To Mrs. McNickle we leave a pair of earrings to add to her collection.
To Mrs. Silsby we leave a fire extinguisher for her hair.
To the rest of our faculty we leave, wishing we could have known them better.
Rudy Abel's book "How to be Handsome in Ten Painful Lessons" is left to Tom McCain.
Gladys Johnson leaves her blond hair to Cheryl Seaburg.
Marguerite Anderson leaves "Miss B" to Judy Bardorian.
Beatrice Hines leaves her hot rod to Dave Hall.
Bill Carson leaves taking Joanne with him.

Carol Lee King leaves her temper to Par Radda.
Rose Scalora leaves her natural wavy hair to Gale Clark.
Margaret Schelin leaves her beautiful voice to John Tomasi.
Joe Schinitzke leaves smiling.
Joan Simons leaves a lock of her hair to the Junior boys. (Don't worry, there's enough for everyone.)

Betty Haman leaves the filing cabinets to any Junior who wants them.
 Beverly Riedel leaves her humorous ways to Wells Johnson.
 Joan Norman leaves, in the footsteps of Jimmy Pulito.
 Angie Marino leaves her red streak to Joan Terry.
 Patty Simcik leaves her pug nose to Diane Squillacote.
 Cathy Stabert leaves her Ipana Smile to Janice Masselle.
 Barbara Sirotnak leaves her devilish doings to Dave Toby.
 Noreen Hammond leaves her speeding tickets to Cookie Tolmaeo.
 Irene Wojciulewicz leaves, taking her name with her.
 Ellis Hardy leaves — Thank Heavens!
 Joanne Maitz leaves her daily gab sessions to Carol Johnson.
 Ray Gronkowski leaves his list of excuses to any Junior who plans to come to school at least once a week.
 Burton Aldrich leaves his dreaming in class to Donny Polanski.
 Miriam Johnson leaves her wonderful personality to Dorothy Kemp.
 Frank Mute leaves his pegged pants to Peter Schoech.
 Antoinette Dimeo leaves her friendliness to Pat Kudzia.
 Lee DeVold leaves his football position to Bobby House.
 Eleanor Surko leaves, wishing people will spell her first name with an "E" at the end.
 Peggy Koloski leaves her studious habits to Nancy Buttons.
 Barbara Winters leaves her brown eyes to Evelyn Hoffman.
 Dave Durity leaves his height to Walt Pajor.
 Myrtle Burrier leaves her engagement ring to Carol Mitchell.
 Diane Talbot leaves her seat at the races to Rose Marie Varriale.
 Norman Manthey leaves, having nothing to leave and packing his belongings in a hurry while he has a chance.
 Jack Kumnick leaves his jeep to the United States Army.
 Judy Wessels leaves her numerous duties to Betty Olisky.
 Perry Smart leaves his daintiness as a cheerleader to Henry Mora.
 Patty Dyer leaves her Italian Bob to Ann Dutkiewicz.
 Claire Rogers leaves her large vocabulary to Lois Falcetti.
 John DiSarro leaves his birds-eye view to Joe Scarola.
 Lillian Hoffman leaves her hair to the Berlin Fire Department.
 Ray Dokas leaves, still owing the cafeteria five cents.
 Marcella Martin leaves her quietness to Jean McHale.
 Ed Smith leaves his date book—telephone numbers included to Richard Warren.
 Bill Skene leaves his collection of sport shirts to any Junior who may need them.
 Barbara Knopf leaves room in the parking lot for some up and coming driver.
 Paul Culver leaves his jalopy to Richard Dimungo.
 Dean Petow leaves in a quiet and unassuming manner.
 Walter Munson leaves his cooperative ways to John O'Connell.
 Tom Sorenson leaves his method to Victor DeSarro.
 Nancy Conger leaves her cute ways to Marge Antenna.
 Teddy Wrobel leaves wishing Carol were going with him.
 Walter Surko leaves his eye lashes to Nancy Ramy.
 George Reck leaves his intelligence to Carol Reynolds.
 John Reeve leaves his baton to Charles Padelli.
 Bob Kasiski leaves his sixty-minute naps in health to anyone who can get away with it.
 Carol Dorsey leaves "Mr. B" to Peg Rio.
 Roger Larson leaves his helpful ways to Ruth Kramer.
 Joe D'Amico leaves his notebook to Ann Luby.
 Don Hrenko leaves his ability for making grinders to his brother.
 Pete Cleveland leaves his build to Randall Spencer.
 Joyce Gooby leaves, taking Peter with her.
 To Miss Gustafson go our warmest thanks for the "called to office" passes that got us out of many a tedious class.

To the Halls we leave peace and quiet.

CLASSROOM CAPERS

College English: Mrs. Porter: Tom, will you give me a definition of a radical? Tom: A person with a revolting attitude! Mrs. Porter: The 15th century was a period of what? Turk: Chivalry. Perry: (Always in search of a joke, but never finding it.) Oh, General Motors Inc. Turk: I said chivalry not Chevrolet.

Lost and Found Display Case: Cathy: "Don't you think anyone with any brains would know whether or not they lost a sweater?" Irene: "I know, pretty bad isn't it?" Irene and Cathy are next seen going down to the office after they realized that the sweaters they were talking about were theirs! Eddie: I lost my wallet, but I doubt if I'll find it here. Ellis: That's nothing I lost my girl and I'm darn sure I won't find her in there!!

Plane Geometry Class: After completing her problem Judy sat down. Mr. Matthews said, "Any comments on Miss Wessels Figure." Editor's note: "WOW".

Study: Who broke the serenity of study in room eighth with a nonchalant "Perry get off my toe."

Occupational Information Class: boys, Boys, BOYS, BOYS!?, BOYS!?! Algebra: Don and Ellis were making up an algebra exam with Mr. Matthews. He, being called out of the room for a telephone call said, "Remember it says in the Bible, boys, if the blind lead the blind surely they both will fall in the ditch."

Parking Area: Irene W. was walking down to the parking lot to her car. In her hand there was a luscious banana cream pie. When she reached the car, she tried to unlock the door with one hand and hold the pie and a million other things with the other hand. All of a sudden she screams, "Where's the pie?" In her hand was the empty pie shell and the filling was splattered all over the ground. Mournfully she said it must have been a "soft landing."

Home Ec.: As freshman, the girls were to make a meatloaf and eat it themselves. Mrs. McDermott, the teacher very nicely left the room at the time they were to eat it, but to their surprise the meatloaf was so bad that they decided to feed it to a dog looking in the window—For some strange reason the dog was never seen again!!

In a Home Ec. class, Mrs. McDermott asked the girls to boil some eggs for a certain recipe. She told them to use a double boiler. Bev Riedel put the water in the bottom part and the eggs in the top. Ever have baked eggs?

Music: One day when we were in Chorus, the stage was set up for the Concert. We were sitting on the third tier. Mr. Harris had just said not to move the chairs too far back as there was a space between the stage and the risers. When Angie Marino did just what he said not to do, she fell right off the edge and landed on the stage!

CLASS PROPHECY

The other day we went to the Nautical Museum and looked through the records of ship's logs. The one that caught our attention was that of the U.S.S. Useless, owned by Ellis Hardy and Tom Sorenson, famous yachtsmen, made rich by selling priceless art objects. The ship's log read as follows:

"In April of 1965 we left New York Harbor. As the ship sailed out to sea we noticed the Statue of Liberty being guarded by John DiSarro.

Our first stop was Cuba on the tenth of April. There we unloaded a cargo of precision needle holes made by Roger Larson. That evening we rode over to the Cafe D'Amico, where we saw Joe D'Amico and his Cuban Combo with Ray Dokas holding the vocal spotlight. Our beverages were served by head waiter Robert Kasiski. We understood they were mixed by world famous bartenders, Moe Dubuc and Bill Carson. The climax of the evening came when we were entertained by the famous songstress Rose Scalaro. The group left the Club D'Amico early, as a shipment of Donald Hrenko's "Pre Made Grinders" had to be loaded next morning.

The Cuban port was left on the nineteenth of April and the ship set sail for Brazil. Here we were approached by Diane Talbot and Claire Rogers owners of a famous nut plantation. We took on a load of tires from Ford Company owned by "Lucky" Perry Smart and his devil drivers, Ray Gronkowski and Paul Culver. We left Brazil and headed northeast across the broad expanse of the Atlantic Ocean.

East Hampton in England was made in ten days. Here we saw Carol Lee King moving in on the Ford Motor Company. As we ambled along Downing Street we saw a mob of autograph hounds surrounding Patty Dyer and Bill Bomba who were on location for their next movie, "Bomba, Lord of the Jungle." As we boarded ship we saw Barbara Knopf and Bea Hines preparing for their next swim across the channel. It was understood they were coached by Beverly Riedel and Noreen Hammond.

We hopped a plane in London on April Thirtieth for a weekend excursion. Here we saw Eleanore Surko and Joan Norman, famous French hat stylists. A little later we saw "The Nancy Dyer School of Dance" managed by Nancy Conger and Irene Wojciulewicz. Later that evening we heard a panel on How to Handle the Modern Male given by Barbara Winters, Patty Simcik and Joan Simons. We then flew back to England as a cargo of noodles for "Noodle Tycoon" George Recck had to be loaded.

On May fourth the ship left "Merrie England" and headed for Sweden. Ken Munson was practicing for the Olympic Jumping Meet. There we also met Cathy Stabert, girl Private Eye, who was touring the country with Myrtle Burrier.

May sixth we approached Siberia where the crew helped Walt Munson, Norman Manthey and Jack Reeves smuggle prisoners out of the country.

Naples was the next stop, there Margaret Schelin and Judy Wessels were on tour with Spike Jones. At the Colosseum, we saw Frank Mute and Bill Skene working industriously on their new 5,000 horse power sports car. That evening was spent at Monte Carlo, the famous gambling resort. Lee Devoid was the new owner, having won the Casino in an honest gambling game.

On May fifteenth the ship headed for Africa. There we traveled by canoes into the jungle and visited with Ed Smith, "The Sultan of Wolfa", with his three hundred wives. Later that day Betty Haman and Lil Hoffman tried to sell us Persian Rugs. Next morning we returned to find Rudy Abel and Ted Wrobel swabbing the ship's deck.

May twentieth-Turkey and its Turks-we saw Walter Surko, Burt Aldrich and an ostrich engaged in a new contest seeing who can keep their heads under the sand the longest; We bet on the ostrich.

May twenty-second-Siam. We bumped into Barb Sirotnak and Marge Anderson who were selling trained Siamese cats. Later that evening Jack Kumnick, counter spy approached us. It seems that he was on the trail of Joe Schnitzke and Dean Petow.

May twenty-eighth somewhere off the coast of North America we were informed that Joyce Gooby and Pete Cleveland had taken over Berlin, Connecticut in order to save a southern rebel who is believed hiding there.

Thus ending the cruise of the U.S.S. Useless
